

RightNow Media

Good morning, church family. Social distancing is hard, isn't it? God created us with a desire to be in relationship with other people, and even if you are an introvert, there comes a point when you need something more than your own imagination to keep you company. During these next few weeks, I know that isolation will turn into boredom, and boredom is never good. We know that you can only watch so much News and Netflix without going completely crazy. That's why your church family wants to offer you a great gift that will help you grow spiritually and keep your children entertained. It's called RightNow Media, and this afternoon around 3 p.m., you will receive an e-mail with an invitation to join at no cost to you. You will find Bible studies by some of the greatest teachers anywhere, inspirational conferences that will blow you away, and children's content that will give you a break while they are getting fed spiritually.

The sign-up process is simple, and again, it will cost you NOTHING! It is a great resource that you will be able to use on any of your computers, tablets, or smartphones, and it is one you will find yourself coming back to day after day. So keep an eye on your e-mail, and if you don't get it, let us know and we will make sure you do.
